

MS. WATKINS: I have one question for you about less lethal.

MR. RHODES: Okay. Let's -- you had a question about less lethal? Go ahead.

MS. WATKINS: Yes, sir. We were wondering if less lethal would include, you know, mace or pepper balls, things of that nature.

MR. MEGGS: Pepper spray is legal. Tasers are legal. And stun guns are legal. And it doesn't hurt to have a lead pipe with a flag on it.

MR. RHODES: For example, when I was walking through the streets of Portland, I was quote/unquote unarmed, but I had my helmet in my hand. Guess what that was for? That was to whack someone right across the face if they're going MR. RHODES: There's ways around -- there's ways of dealing with things that improvise as tools. Okay?
